Lisa Carlsen, a highly-decorated head coach who spent the last eight seasons at Lewis University, was introduced as Northern Illinois University's 10th women's basketball head coach by NIU Associate Vice-President and Director of Athletics Sean T. Frazier on June 30, 2015

"I'm excited for this opportunity to work with the NIU family and the Huskie basketball program," said Carlsen. "It was clear to me on my visit that NIU has a real chance to elevate itself to the next level. I want to thank Director of Athletics Sean T. Frazier for allowing me this wonderful opportunity to coach at Northern Illinois University. This is a great move for my family and I look forward to getting to work with this current team and instilling the expectation of competing for, and winning, Mid-American Conference Championships."

In eight seasons at Lewis, Carlsen guided the Flyers to a 148-89 record, four NCAA Division II Tournament appearances and two Great Lakes Valley Conference (GLVC) championships.

"When we began the search for our next head women's basketball coach at NIU, we were looking for someone who was the right fit to lead the resurgence of our program," said Frazier. "Lisa Carlsen has a proven record of success, an understanding of the educational mission of our university and the integrity and values to get the job done here at NIU. I have no doubt that Lisa is the right person at the right time to lead our student-athletes and compete for championships in the years to come."

In 2014-15, Lewis posted a 31-3 record and reached the Elite Eight of the NCAA Tournament; Carlsen was honored as the 2015 Women's Basketball Coaches Association (WBCA) Division II National Coach of the Year. The Flyers started the season on a 23-game winning streak and spent five weeks ranked number one in the nation. Along with earning national coach of the year honors, Carlsen was also named GLVC Coach of the Year, Illinois Basketball Coaches Association (IBCA) Women's Collegiate Coach of the Year and WBCA Region IV Division II Coach of the Year.

Her final season at Lewis was the culmination of an outstanding three-year period during which Carlsen guided the Flyers to a 78-15 mark and three consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances.

Carlsen led the Flyers to the best turnaround in the nation in Division II during the 2012-13 campaign, recording a 24-6 mark. Lewis won the GLVC East Division and Tournament championships and earned a trip to the NCAA Tournament. Carlsen was named the GLVC Coach of the Year and was also the IBCA Women's Collegiate Coach of the Year.

In 2013-14, Lewis went 23-6 and reached the second round of the NCAA Tournament. Carlsen was named the 2014 IBCA Women's Collegiate Co-Coach of the Year and the WBCA Region IV Division II Coach of the Year.

During her tenure with the Flyers, Carlsen mentored two All-Americans, two conference players of the year, four all-region honorees and 10 all-conference award winners. In eight seasons at Lewis, Carlsen's program had a 100 percent graduation rate; she also served as the Senior Woman Administrator at Lewis from 2007-13.

A native of Earling, Iowa, Carlsen began her basketball coaching career at Nebraska Omaha as an assistant in 1998-99 and 1999-2000. Carlsen was promoted to head coach at Nebraska Omaha prior to the 2000-01 season and led the Mavericks to postseason play in 2003, recording the program's best finish since the 1991-92 season. In 12 seasons combined between Lewis and Nebraska Omaha, Carlsen has a career record of 184-163.

Following her tenure at Nebraska Omaha, Carlsen spent three seasons as the associate head coach at Winona State, helping guide the Warriors to a 12-win improvement before taking the reins at Lewis prior to the 2007-08 season.

Before coaching basketball, Carlsen coached both softball and volleyball collegiately. She served as the head softball coach at the College of St. Mary (Neb.) from 1994-97 and was twice named the Midlands Collegiate Athletic Conference Coach of the Year. Carlsen then worked as an assistant volleyball coach and head softball coach at Wayne State (Neb.) during the 1997-98 school year. She complied a career record of 120-51 as a softball coach.

A 1992 graduate of Northwest Missouri State, Carlsen was a four-time all-conference basketball honoree while also earning all-conference and all-region honors as a softball player. During her senior year, Carlsen was named the 1992 Champion NCAA Female Athlete of the Year. She went on to earn her master's degree from Nebraska Omaha in 1994 and played basketball professionally for the Nebraska Express of the Women's Basketball Association from 1992-95 and was named an all-star in 1995.

Carlsen and her husband, Chris, have four children; sons Jacob (18), Zachary (15) and Sam (14) and daughter Lexi (10).

ABOUT McCLEARY

College 2011

North Alabama Bachelors degree

Hometown Murfreesboro, Tenn. A former Assistant Coach at Lewis with NIU's newly minted Head Coach Lisa Carlsen, Kierra McCleary enters her first season with the Huskies in 2015-16.

McCleary comes to Northern Illinois University after spending the last two seasons at Western Illinois, where she served as the recruiting coordinator for the Leathernecks. In her first season at WIU, the Leathernecks set a new record for points in a season with 2,392 and field goals in a season with 846.

Led by three All-Summit League selections, one All-Newcomer team selection and a CoSIDA Academic All-American (Ashley Luke), Western Illinois would go on to finish the 2013-14 season with a 14-16 record. WIU foes from the Horizon League, Conference USA, the Ohio Valley, the Atlantic-10 and WAC while finishing fifth in the Summit League, the Leathernecks best league finish since 2007-08.

The team would surpass that standard in 2014-15, finishing 17-13 overall and 9-7 in the Summit League to finish third in the regular season standings. Luke would finish the season as the Summit League's Player of the Year, as well CoSIDA's Academic All-American of the Year.

Prior to her two seasons at Western Illinois, McCleary worked one season at Lewis with Carlsen, helping the Flyers to the best turnaround in Division II during the 2012-13 season. Lewis finished the year 24-6, earning an NCAA Tournament berth, after finishing the 2011-12 season with an 8-20 mark.

A three-time captain at North Alabama, McCleary helped the Lions to an NCAA Tournament berth in 2010-11, the program's first appearance since 1994. In her final season, North Alabama finished 21-7 and was a perfect 12-0 in the Gulf South Conference. The Murfreesboro, Tenn., native graduated from UNA in 2011 with a degree in business administration.

"Kierra worked for me three years ago and is a promising, up and coming coach," said Head Coach Lisa Carlsen. She did a great job at Western Illinois and gained more and more responsibility there. "She adds a dynamic aspect for us, especially as a recruiter and her familiarity of this position especially at the Division I level will be key."

Last year with the Flyers, Lewis opened the season 23-0 to earn the No. 1 ranking for five-consecutive weeks in the Division II polls. The Flyers also defeated three Division I opponents in that time.

The program would finish the season 31-3 overall and 17-1, a new Great Lakes Valley Conference record, en route to the program's first ever berth to the Elite Eight in 2014-15. McGinty began working with Lewis women's basketball program in 2012-13 as a practice player while working towards his Master's degree.

Prior to his season on the bench at Lewis, McGinty coached at St. Laurence High School, where he was an assistant coach with the boy's varsity team, as well as the head coach of the boy's freshmen team in 2012-13 and the head coach of the junior varsity team in 2013-14. McGinty also has AAU coaching experience, spending a season with Full Package Athletics in 2013 and The Athlete Within (TAW) in 2014.

In addition to his coaching duties at Lewis, the Chicago native served as the Compliance Assistant for three years. McGinty graduated from Iowa in 2012 with a degree in sports studies and worked towards his master's at Lewis in organizational leadership, finishing in 2015.

"John brings an element of trust because we worked together last year and he showed a great understanding of the X's and O's of the game. He demonstrated that during the postseason last year and really helped us make some great adjustments and strategical moves. He has a great love for the game and his familiarity with what I expect and what we're trying to do here make him a great asset to the staff," said Head Coach Lisa Carlsen.

Stephanie Smith has been a familiar name to fans of the NIU basketball program for over a decade now.

CARLSEN

As a four-year letterwinner for NIU (2001-04), Smith is in her fifth season with the Huskies after returning to DeKalb after coaching eight years at the high school level. Most recently, she was the head women's varsity coach at Burlington Central in Burlington, Ill., where she tallied a 28-28 record.

With two seasons as the Huskies' graduate assistant from 2011-13 and two more years as the team's Director of Basketball Operations, Smith enters her first season as an assistant coach. Prior to becoming an assitant, Smith was charged with handling all travel operations, scheduling, administrative duties, events and other tasks that take place during the course of the season, as well as helping coordinate between opponents.

"Having Steph here in the transition has been huge help with her understanding of NIU, but more than that, Steph provides a passion for the university as an alum that you just can't replicate and that's what drew me the most to her when I thought of elevating her to the staff" said Head Coach Lisa Carlsen. "Her organization skills and her ability to help us in the transition was great but she can sell NIU because she's lived NIU as player and as a staff member. I think that will shine through as a recruiter in the future." Prior to her brief tenure with the Rockets, Smith served as an assistant at Marian Catholic in Chicago Heights, Ill., and at South Elgin in Elgin, Ill. She also coached AAU basketball in Illinois, coaching the Illinois Wolverines and Team USA in Elgin.

A 2004 NIU graduate, Smith received her master's degree from NIU in 2013 in adult and high education.

As a Huskie, Smith played in 113 games during her career and made 36 starts as a guard. She scored 475 points (4.2/game) and held a career .350 (83-237) three-point shooting percentage, good for 10th-best in program history.

SHARP-SHOOTER

Ally Lehman has proven to be quite the multi-tasker on the basketball court for Northern Illinois University.

The sophomore from Nineveh, Indiana, spent the 2014 season as a starter at guard for the Huskies. Not too surprisingly for someone at the guard position, she led the team in assists and steals and ranked among the team leaders in scoring. She also led the team in rebounding and was among the top two in blocked shots — something you might not expect from a 5-foot-10 guard.

As it so happens, Lehman's planned post-college career path is also something you might not expect from a 5-foot-10 guard. This past fall, Lehman joined NIU's ROTC program and will be participating with other cadets after the season in physical training drills — and she also plans on joining the rifle team, making her a sharp-shooter of a different kind.

Lehman's desire to go pro in something other than sports includes plans to join the Army Reserve, with a goal of accepting an officer's commission.

Actually, it's more correct to say that Lehman is proving to be quite the multi-tasker — on and off the basketball court.

- Excerpt from the 2015 NCAA Women's Final Four Game Program in which Lehman was featured in last April.

a game. The Huskies accomplished the feat versus Eastern Michigan in the Mid-American Conference opener Jan. 3. "When we play like there's nothing to lose, we play free. We need to figure out how to play fearlessly for the entire game," said Head Coach Kathi Bennett. "We have 15 games left to play like we did in that final 15 minutes and that's our goal. "We just need to start focusing on what we can do and stop focusing on what we can't do and I really feel like that was our mentality in the second haft. It's frustrating because we're right there - we're practicing well, our attitude's right, everybody's at work - but we have a fear of failure," added Bennett. Bowling Green and the Huskies would go on to trade the lead five times in the first half as the Faicons finished with a 24-17 lead. BGSU took the final advantage of the game as it went on a 9-0 run to capture a 19-12 lead. Corral broke the run with her second three-pointer of the half and Ift NIU within four points, 19-15. WOMEN'S BASKETBALL MOVES TO A FOUR-QUARTER FORMAT

by Greg Johnson, NCAA (June 10 & June 24, 2015)

INDIANAPOLIS - NCAA women's basketball games will be played in four 10-minute quarters next season.

The NCAA Playing Rules Oversight Panel approved moving the game to the new format and away from the 20-minute halves the sport has always used in NCAA competition on a conference call today.

The NCAA Women's Basketball Rules Committee, which initially recommended the rule change, believes the four-quarter format will enhance the flow of the game. The change also was endorsed by the Women's Basketball Coaches Association Board of Directors.

Teams will now reach the bonus and shoot two free throws on the fifth team foul in each quarter. Previously, teams reached a one-and-one bonus on the seventh team foul of each half and reached the double bonus (two shots) on the 10th team foul.

In the four-quarter format, team fouls reset to zero at the start of each quarter. However, if a team reaches the bonus in the fourth quarter, that team would remain in the bonus during any additional overtime periods.

ADVANCING THE BALL

The panel approved a rule that allows teams to advance the ball to the frontcourt following a timeout immediately after a made basket in the last 59.9 seconds of the fourth quarter and any overtime periods.

Teams also will be allowed to advance the ball to the frontcourt after securing the ball from a rebound or a change of possession. In these scenarios, the ball would be inbounded at the 28-foot mark on the side of the court where the scorer's table is located.

The committee made the initial recommendation because it felt this change would add more excitement to offensive possessions at the ends of games because teams would no longer be required to travel the length of the court after inbounding the ball.

10-SECOND BACKCOURT EXCEPTIONS

NCAA women's basketball implemented the 10-second backcourt rule during the 2013-14 season.

For the upcoming season, a team will not be subject to the 10-second backcourt count when a throw-in results from the following:

- The ball is deflected out of bounds by the defense.
- There is a held ball, and the possession arrow favors the offensive team.
- A technical foul is called on the offensive team while the ball is in its backcourt.

POST DEFENSE

The panel approved a new rule that allows defenders to place a forearm or an open hand with a bend in the elbow on an offensive post player with the ball whose back is to the basket.

BANDS AND AMPLIFIED MUSIC

In an effort to improve the overall fan experience, bands or amplified music may be played during any dead-ball situation during a women's basketball game. Previously, rules allowed music to be played only during timeouts and intermission.

MEDIA TIMEOUT CHANGES

The NCAA Playing Rules Oversight Panel approved a new media timeout format for televised women's basketball games.

Beginning next season, media timeouts will occur at the first dead ball at or below the five-minute mark of each period and at the end of the first and third periods. Additionally, the first team-called timeout of the second half will become a media timeout.

In the new four-quarter format, teams will have four timeouts (three 30-second timeouts and one 60-second timeout). A team may use the 60-second timeout at the discretion of the coach during the first or second half of the game. Teams will be allowed to carry over three of those timeouts into the second half. Each team will be awarded one 30-second timeout in each overtime period, plus any unused timeouts remaining from the second half.

In non-televised games, teams will have five timeouts (three 30s and two 60s). Four of the timeouts can carry over to the second half.

The panel also approved a proposal that allows officials to use zeroes on the shot clock, in addition to the hearing the shot clock horn, to determine if a shot clock violation occurred at any point in the game.

FRAZIER ON LISA CARLSEN: 'SHE'S A WINNER'

by Jesse Severson, The Daily Chronicle (June 30, 2015)

DeKALB – When Northern Illinois athletic director Sean Frazier introduced Lisa Carlsen as the newest women's basketball coach on Tuesday morning, one theme kept popping up.

"She's a winner, bottom line," Frazier said of Carlsen, who signed a five-year deal.

Carlsen, 45, takes the reins of the Huskies women's basketball program after going 31-3 at Lewis University – a Division II school in Romeoville – last season and helped lead the Flyers to the Elite Eight, which earned her the 2015 Women's Basketball Coaches Association (WBCA) Division II National Coach of the Year.

"Looking at her body of work, she wins – and that's a big one for me," said Frazier, who notified Carlsen on Friday that she was offered the position.

Carlsen, who becomes the 10th coach in program history, will look to end a drought of non-winning seasons for the Huskies that dates back to 2006-07 – when they finished 19-12 overall and 8-8 in Mid-American Conference play under Carol Owens. The Huskies finished 10-6 in the MAC and 15-15 overall in 2008-09 under Owens, which was the last time they had a winning record in conference play.

"I feel like all the pieces are really in place for this program to take that next step – to fight for MAC championships and get to postseason play," Carlsen said. "I think everything is right there for the taking."

Carlsen said lifting the Huskies into prominence starts with bringing in a culture of higher expectations for the program but that it's not a long-term project – that she's ready to win immediately.

"I think it's important to establish your culture right away – and that doesn't happen overnight but I don't think it's something where you have to start from the ground up," she said. "Especially the success we've had the past three or four years, that's a lot more fun than losing, so the sooner we can win and win a lot the better."

Frazier pointed to several aspects of Carlsen that were positive reasons to hire her, including her familiarity with Chicagoland for recruiting, focus on her players to do well academically – she had a 100 percent graduation rate in her eight years at Lewis – and that she has won a lot of games in the past few years.

"We've got great momentum," Frazier said. "I think we're at a critical crossroads and we do things the right way. We have a great coach. We had to recruit the hell out of her. We really feel like we have all the pieces in place."

As a head coach, Carlsen has a career record of 184-163 in 12 seasons. She went 36-74 in four years at Nebraska Omaha (Division I) and 148-89 in eight years at Lewis. However, in the past three seasons at Lewis, the Flyers went 78-15 (.839 percent).

"Having built one of the best women's basketball programs in the nation at the Division II level, Lisa is a qualified, competent and quality hire for NIU," Lewis athletic director John Planek said. "She does a great job with her players and they like playing for her."

Carlsen said she wants to bring her up-tempo style to Northern Illinois and feels the roster has players that fit that model and that recruiting, which begins right away from the new coach, can boost the Huskies.

For Frazier, Carlsen's knowledge of the coveted Chicagoland was a major plus.

"Everybody recruits nationally in Chicago," Frazier said. "I think what we're looking for is a piece of our own. We need to make sure we have the fence up as much as we can in the state of Illinois and, frankly, Chicagoland. We want to make sure we put our best foot forward."

Now that she's behind the wheel of a Division I program, Carlsen said it may be easier to nab some of the recruits from the Chicago area.

"Hopefully I can go get some of the kids that maybe I couldn't get as Lewis, but I know who they are," she said. "I know those names, I know those programs, I know those AAU teams, or whatever it is."

The position became available after former coach Kathi Bennett unexpectedly resigned on April 29. Bennett compiled a record of 57-93 in five seasons at Northern Illinois and was 12-17 in 2014-15. The Huskies were riddled by injuries this past season – losing Natecia Augusta and Jazmine Harris before the season began.

While Frazier said he's happy the search is over and he found a coach he's excited about, he didn't want to rush the process of finding a replacement for Bennett. Carlsen, who still has loose ends to tie up like finding a place to live and schools for her four children, said she's happy the process is over and to become the newest Huskie coach.

"I'm ready to get back to work."
